Air Force Plans Arctic Bases For Polar Flights

May Refuel Bombers On Icy Wastes

BY ELTON C. FAY

Washington, July 27. (P)—The air force is talking about forward air bases deep in the Arctic at which bombers could refuel on strikes across the Polar cap.

A cautious official reference to this hitherto secret plan for stretching the reach of bombers operating from airfields within the United States came to light today. In a report on plans and money needs for the new heavy bomber base at Limestone, Me., the air force says:

"A typical Polar operation might involve aircraft taking off from United States air bases, the staging or topping off of these aircraft at forward bases in northern Canada, Greenland, or even the Polar ice cap."

This project may explain how the USAF can make good its claim that the huge B-36 bomber can strike virtually all "significant military targets on the earth from bases in the western hemisphere."

The distance from bases within the United States itself to potential targets in the heartland of the Eurasian continent would be beyond the range of even the B-36. However, the new strategy suggested in the report indicates that the missions would operate like this:

A B-36, whose home field was

Gene Krupa's Band Runs Into Trouble

Detroit Job Cancelled, Ejected From Hotel

Detroit, July 27. (P)—Troubles piled up today for Gene Krupa's band in the wake of a narcotics scandal.

The band's contract at suburban Eastwood Park was cancelled after three musicians pleaded guilty to possession of dope.

Then the Tuller hotel ejected the entire band.

The three musicians arrested by federal agents were fired from the band. Jack Ferentz, president of the Detroit Federation of Musicians, said the three also faced possible expulsion from the American Federation of Musicians.

Federal Judge Arthur Lederle released the trio under personal bonds and set sentencing for Sept. 12. They are guitarist Ralph Blaze, of Weehawken, N. J.; trombonist Herbert Randel of Richmond Hills, N. Y., and trumpeter John P. Bello of Paterson, N. J.

Three teen-age girls arrested with the musicians still were held for investigation.

Band Leader Krupa was cleared of possession of narcotics after Detroit and federal officers searched his hotel room.

Farouk Swears In Coalition Cabinet

Alexandria, Egypt, July 27. (P)—King Farouk swore in a new coalition cabinet last night which has broader popular representation than any government in Egypt's modern history.

All three major political parties—Saadist, Wafdist and Liberal-Constitutional—accepted posts in the nation's first coalition since 1937.

Each group will have four members in the new cabinet. Two Nationalists, and five independents comprise the remainder of the coalition administration.

Senate Plans Farm Aid Bill Without Brannan

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, July 27. (P)—Senators of both parties agreed today to try to work out a new compromise on farm legislation—minus the help of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan.

Senator Anderson (D-N.M.) said he has two drafts of possible bills ready for a closed-door session of the Senate Agriculture committee.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.), top ranking GOP member of this committee, said in a separate interview he will cooperate in a non-partisan effort to pass a farm bill at this session of Congress.

Neither of Anderson's plans involves the novel proposal by Secretary Brannan to let market prices of meats, dairy products and other perishable farm products seek their own level while farmers collected treasury subsidies if necessary to bring them back to a government-set level.

Anderson told critical senators a stormy session yesterday that unless Congress approves his proposal, at least for a partial trial, "I have a sense of frustration."

Anderson talked of possibly revising the long-range flexible price support plan passed by the 1948 GOP-controlled Congress and the Aiken act because of its sponsor. Aiken said he and other Republicans might go along. Among other things the revision would fix the government support levels at from 75 to 90 percent of parity. Parity is a computed price intended to give farm products a value in fair relationship to the price of things a farmer must buy.

The 1948 act calls for support levels from 60 to 90 per cent but Aiken says the secretary of agriculture has authority to maintain them at the upper levels.

Maria Beck Tells About 'Great Love'

Says Mail Order Romeo Was Very Kind

New York, July 27. (P)—Hefty, 29-year-old Martha Beck says that a "great love" chained her to Raymond Fernandez while he plied his trade as collector of hearts and bankrolls of lonely women.

Testifying in her own defense, Mrs. Beck said yesterday that Fernandez, her murderer trial co-defendant, is "just all that a woman could ask for in a man."

"My love was so great for him that if he had told me to hold my breath and stop breathing, I would have done so," she said. "If in the end, he and I could be married, I'd consent to anything."

She called love-merchant Fernandez a "lovable, kind and considerate" man, who "caressed me quite often" and who was wholly unlike the scheming, deceiving man she had encountered in her earlier life.

"His treatment of me," she said, "was something I had never had."

She and Fernandez are on trial on charges of killing Mrs. Janet Fay, 66-year-old Albany, N. Y., widow last Jan. 4. This is one of three slayings that allegedly grew out of their "lonely hearts" operations.

Mrs. Beck said that because of her love for Fernandez she had agreed to his amorous, fund-raising campaigns with other women.

She said he told her that only by obtaining money from other women would he be able to finance a divorce from his wife in Spain, thus paving the way for a marriage to Mrs. Beck.

Nevertheless, she admitted, his profession aroused her jealousy on more than one occasion.

Los Angeles Jury Near End Of Probe

Indictments Are Expected Tomorrow

Los Angeles, July 27. (P)—The county grand jury on its fourth day of deliberations, is expected to return indictments tomorrow in the police vice-pollution inquiry.

Foreman Harry A. Lawson said the panel was in agreement on many points but has not yet voted on true bills.

"We will finish by Thursday," he said.

The grand jury has been investigating vice conditions for 12 weeks, centering its inquiry around charges of Brenda Allen, Hollywood call house madam, that she paid police for protection.

The investigation resulted in a major police department shakeup, including the resignation of Chief C. B. Horrell, and the suspension of some officers and the reassignment of others.

William A. Worton, retired marine major general, took over temporarily as chief at the request of Mayor Fletcher Bowron, pending a civil service examination to fill the job.

Meantime, recall petitions are being circulated against Mayor Fletcher Bowron, who recently was re-elected to his fourth term.

The total compared with 408 teaching certificates awarded last year. In addition, Linton said, 269 two-year certificates also were awarded.

Cards Leave On Trip to Vatican

New York, July 27. (P)—Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago and Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit left yesterday for a visit to the Vatican. They sailed on the American export liner Excalibur.

He said the act "virtually assures landlords a profit," while at the same time protecting tenants against unreasonable rents or illegal evictions.

New Law Brings Rent Increases

Newark, N. J., July 27. (P)—Approximately 142,000 families have had their rents boosted since the new rent control law became effective April 1, Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods said last night.

The average boost was $6.40 per month, or 18 per cent, he told a meeting sponsored by the New Jersey tenants' council.

He said the act "virtually assures landlords a profit," while at the same time protecting tenants against unreasonable rents or illegal evictions.

Sec. Acheson Asks Support Of Arms Plan

Washington, July 27. (P)—Secretary of State Acheson appealed to a balking Congress today to suspend judgment on the $1,450,000,000 foreign arms aid bill until all the evidence is in.

Acheson told a news conference that points raised on the program by several members of Congress are sound in theory but that they talked in a misapprehension of the facts.

Evidently referring to the suggestion of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) that only an interim plan should be adopted now, Acheson said it is a good idea to continue to stand for the things in our government which I think are right."

But he declared that is exactly what the administration has proposed.

The evidence of which Acheson spoke will be presented to Congress beginning with his appearance before the House Foreign Affairs committee tomorrow.

Discussing that appearance, the secretary refused to answer directly a reporter's inquiry as to whether the United States government has information "that the Russians are actively preparing for war."

Acheson said that was what he called one of those loaded numbers.

If he replied yes, the reporters would make a lot out of that, he said, and if he replied no, they would make a lot out of that; so his decision was to make no comment at all in direct response.

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 27. (P)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt told Francis Cardinal Spellman today in answer to his charges of "anti-Catholicism" that she would "continue to stand for the things in our government which I think are right."

FAIR FEATURES GLADIOLI SHOW

Special Exhibit Planned
Last Three Days

A special showing of gladiolus will feature the last three days of the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba; it has been announced by Harold P. Lindsay, Secretary.

The Upper Peninsula State Fair will be presented August 16-21 and the gladiolus show will be held August 19-20-21. The usual floral exhibits will be displayed the first three days of the Fair, after which the exhibit space will be devoted exclusively to a showing of gladiolus. An outstanding display of glads is assured for this department and at least 50 growers will be represented.

Any resident of Michigan is invited to make entries in the open classes. The contest is being conducted under the supervision of the Michigan Gladioli Society, with which the Upper Peninsula State Fair has affiliated. All entries must be made by 12 o'clock noon on Friday, August 19.

Each exhibitor may make as many entries in a color class as he desires provided each is a different variety. Exhibitors are asked to bring their flowers, even though they may not know the name of the varieties. A show committee will help exhibitors classify their flowers as to size and color classes.

The show will be conducted in six classes as follows: Class A—amateur's single spike; Class B—artistic arrangements; Class C—special classes; Class D—one spike color classes; Class E—three spike color classes; and Class F—recent introductions.

Classes D, E and F will consist of three different sections, divided according to size of the flowers. In this way the glads with small florets will not be judged against those with large florets.

Dr. Paul Krone, of Michigan State College, will be in charge of the glad show, which is being presented this year for the first time.

Beach House Plans Studied By Board

The city recreation commission Tuesday night recommended to the city council the acquisition of undeveloped property in the area adjacent to the city water tower for eventual use as a recreation area. The land is designated on the city master plan map for recreational use and it is desired by the recreation department for ultimate use as a public playground.

The recreation board studied several plans for the municipal beach house to be constructed at the Ludington Park beach. A final recommendation will be made by the board at its next meeting. It is planned to start construction this fall so that the facility will be available in time for the 1950 summer season, when the new beach will be dedicated. The council has allocated $25,000 in the budget for the present fiscal year for construction of the beach

U. P. Farmers' Roundup Scheduled At Chatham

The Farmers' Roundup, a popular program for Upper Peninsula farmers, will be held Aug. 5 at Chatham, the 30th annual event of its kind at the U. P. agricultural experiment station.

New developments in crops, horticulture, poultry, dairying, forestry and homemaking will be shown and explained to visitors, according to Russell E. Horwood, superintendent of the Michigan State College experiment station.

A feature of the agricultural event this year will be a talk by W. A. Rowlands director of branch agricultural stations for Wisconsin. Rowlands will speak on "The Farmer and the Experiment Station." Long associated with agricultural developments, Rowlands received national recognition for his work in land use in northern Wisconsin.

He will speak at a luncheon program in one of the Camp Shaw buildings, which adjoin the experiment station grounds.

The roundup for farmers and homemakers is held the last day of Camp Shaw, a week devoted to 4-H Club programs for about 450 boys and girls of the Upper Peninsula. All 15 counties of the U. P. are represented at Camp Shaw, a yearly educational and recreational camp.

Built in 1938, Camp Shaw has been used by many agricultural and homemaking groups, including homemakers' camp, Farmers' Roundup, rural youth league, older youth conference, forestry conference, and state conservation camp.

Chances For Aid To Copper Mines Reported Good

Houghton, Mich., (AP)—A Michigan committee recently returned from Washington reports chances are good for getting federal aid for Upper Peninsula copper mines.

The committee went to Washington to urge passage of a Senate bill now before the Insular Affairs committee of the Senate. It would authorize the government to buy scarce non-iron metals for stockpiling.

NOTICE AND INSTRUCTIONS TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the City of Munising, Alger County, State of Michigan, for the construction of a Chapel and Receiving Vault to be built in Maple Grove Cemetery on the Vault Plot to replace a building which has been demolished; which construction shall be done in accordance with plans and specifications prepared by Perc Brandt, Architect, and Perry L. Norton, Designer, of Marquette, Michigan, up to the hour of 7:30 o'clock P. M. on the 16th day of August, 1949, at the offices of the City Clerk, Munising, Michigan, and regular city employees and local labor shall be employed whenever possible.

The right to accept or reject any and all bids is reserved.

Sealed bids shall include all General Work and the Electrical Wiring Work, as set forth in the plans and specifications mentioned above. Any bulletins or addenda issued during the time of bidding are to be covered in the proposal and in closing contract they will become a part thereof.

Proposals, to be entitled to consideration, must be made in accordance with the following instructions:

Proposals shall be made upon the form provided therefore, and all blank spaces in the form shall be fully filled; numbers shall be stated both in writing and in figures; the signature shall be in long hand; and the completed form shall be without interlineation, alternation, or erasure.

Proposals shall be addressed to the Owner, and shall be delivered to the Owner enclosed in an opaque sealed envelope addressed to the City of Munising, marked "Proposal" and bearing the title of the work and the name of the bidder, not later than the time mentioned above at the office of the City Clerk of Munising.

Should a bidder find discrepancies in, or omissions from, the drawings or other documents, or should he be in doubt as to their meaning, he should at once notify the Architect, at his offices in Marquette, Michigan, who will send a written instruction to all bidders. Neither Owner nor Architect will be responsible for any oral instructions.

Before submitting a proposal, bidders should carefully examine the drawings and specifications, visit the site of work, and fully inform themselves as to all existing conditions and limitations and shall include in the proposal a sum to cover the cost of all items included in the contract.

The competency and responsibility of bidders and of their proposed subcontractors will be considered in making the award.

Plans and specifications are on file at the office of the City Clerk and may be procured from Brandt and Norton, Architects, Marquette, Michigan.

Die-Hards Finding Fish Despite Seasonal Slump

Game fishing in this area is in what might be described as the mid-summer doldrums following a highly successful spring run of walleyes on bay waters and good trout catches on the more favored trout streams.

Despite the seasonal slump the die-hards among local fishermen are enjoying their sport under ideal conditions. Trolling or casting on lake or bay can alternate with still-fishing, another way to define being lazy with a purpose.

According to reports reaching the conservation headquarters in Escanaba, the walleyes have largely moved into deeper bay waters. A few are being taken off Squaw Creek in Little Bay de Noc and way out in deep water off Ford River. Occasional catches have been made near Minneapolis Shoal lighthouse, 12 miles south of Escanaba.

For those who like to battle something big, there is always the northern pike, a fish that in bay waters and some inland lakes grows to over 40 inches in length. Reports indicate the northerns are lurking through the summer heat, but occasional catches are made in bay waters and up at Au Train lake it has been fair.

Au Train basin, incidentally, will afford good blue gill fishing now, the conservation officers are told, and a few rainbows have been reported taken there.

On USS Columbus—Pfc. Kenneth LaChapelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. LaChapelle, 912 First avenue north, is one of three Escanabans aboard the USS Columbus, which after a stop at Danish ports will return to its home port at Plymouth, England, August 4.

Mosher Leaves—Emil Larsen, veteran employee of the Veterans Administration office in Escanaba, has been named acting officer-in-charge of the local office. Henry A. Mosher, former manager of the U. P. office in Escanaba, has been transferred to the VA offices in Detroit. Escanaba and several other sub-regional offices in Michigan were abolished, effective July 1. The Escanaba office is still functioning in every section but it no longer has jurisdiction over the entire U. P. as before.

License Plates Stolen—City police are investigating several instances where license plates have been stolen from cars. It is believed to be the work of children. To date plates have been stolen from cars owned by Mrs. Tru Ballard of 1119 Ninth avenue south, and Leo Masta, 1201 Sheridan road. Other attempts to take plates have been reported.

Junior Chamber—A special meeting of officers and directors of the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in the senior Chamber office, Ludington street, at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Farmers Market—The regular farmers market will be open Saturday, from about 7 a.m. to noon. Chickens, eggs and early garden produce are available, George Harvey, city clerk, has announced.

Fifth Army Personnel Complete Military Justice School Here

Upper Peninsula Army and Air Force recruiting officers and other military personnel of Fifth Army, including Lt. Col. Alfred D. Henderson and M/Sgt. Robert S. Ott, instructor personnel with the 107th Engineer Combat battalion, Upper Michigan National Guard, have completed a military justice school in Escanaba.

They were instructed thoroughly in the new rules of military justice. Many changes have been wrought in military justice since the war, based on experiences of World War II. Detroit instructors were in charge.

A smorgasbord and cocktail party were held at the Sherman hotel at the completion of the school.

We hear a great deal about hysteria in the United States today. But hysteria here is not one-hundredth of what exists behind the Iron Curtain, in Russia.—Geo. V. Allen, assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

OLDS REPORTS BUSINESS LAG

U. S. Steel Head Sees Drop Through 1949

New York—July 27 (P)—The chairman of the nation's biggest steel producer—Irvings Olds of United States Steel Corp.—foresees declining business for his company extending through the rest of 1949.

His prediction was made after the corporation had reported 1949 sales and shipments of products at the highest level for the first half of any year in its history. Net income for the past six months was the highest since 1929.

The figures were issued as a factual fact-finding board began laying plans to start hearings here tomorrow on the CIO steelworkers' demands for wage increases, pensions and group insurance.

Olds told a news conference late yesterday that new steel orders had been declining for some time; that they would not be down too much in the third quarter but would dip further in the fourth quarter.

"Where we'll strike a leveling off or balance, I don't know," he said.

He said the order backlog was off 25 per cent from three or six months ago and represents about 3½ to 4 months' business at the present rate of shipments.

Although U. S. Steel plants are scheduled to operate this week at 83.8 per cent of rated capacity, Olds said the third-quarter average might be expected to run about 75 per cent.

Speeding Is Deadly Economy, Police Say

"Deadly, penny-wise, economy!" This is what Chief M. F. Ettenhofer, who leads the campaign against excessive speed, calls the mental attitude of many drivers.

"This attitude," he said today, "is what makes so many motorists who would never risk money gambling go out on the highway and stake their lives, and other persons', against five or ten minutes of saved time."

According to the State Safety Commission, if the speeding motorist has an accident at 60 miles an hour, the odds that he will kill or seriously injure himself, his passengers, someone in another car, or perhaps an innocent pedestrian, are so staggering that few professional gamblers would touch it with a 10-foot pole.

"With the slogan, 'Speeders Are Losing Their Licenses,'" Chief Ettenhofer said, it is hoped to impress upon motorists the importance of the drivers' responsibility toward himself and his passengers. Since one out of every three fatal accidents involves a motorist driving too fast, the State Safety Commission and the National Safety Council feel that excessive speed, although recognized by the public as a dangerous practice, has become obscured by other, more dramatic, accident causes.

"It's one of those things that a motorist can get away with for a long time . . . almost until he has convinced himself that he's built up an immunity to death." Chief

Senate Passes Measure For Girl From Finland

The signature of President Truman is all that is needed now to give Sirkka Saarelainen, little Finnish laboratory technician at St. Francis hospital, her opportunity to become a citizen of the United States.

The Senate last night passed the bill entitling Sirkka to permanent residence.

Word of Senate action, which was received with general rejoicing in the community which adopted Sirkka as its own shortly after her arrival from Finland under a student's visa, and which has exerted every effort to keep her here, came from Congressman Charles Potter, (R-Mich.) who introduced and guided the relief bill through the House and Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) who backed the measure in the Senate.

When it was learned that employment meant violation of her student's visa and she was facing deportation, the entire community rallied to her defense. Congressman Potter was contacted and Sirkka's story placed before him. He immediately introduced a bill in her behalf in the House of Representatives.

Picking Up Hikers Is Dangerous Policy

THE slaying of Emil Nordbeck, Wisconsin accountant, by a 17-year-old hitch-hiker is further tragic evidence of the hazard that exists in offering rides to strangers. A majority of motorists have abandoned the practice of stopping for hitch-hikers. Undoubtedly the trend away from this practice will be further accelerated in this area, at least, as a result of the Nordbeck slaying.

Hitch-hiking gained a lot of popularity during the war because of transportation restrictions and the general desire of the motoring public to assist servicemen on furloughs. This trend carried over to some extent in the postwar period but bludgeonings, robberies, etc., by hitch-hikers caused a lack of desire by most motorists to stop for strangers on the highways.

Hitch-hiking can be dangerous, too, for those who thumb their way from city to city. Many hitch-hikers have been robbed by motorists who stopped to pick them up and some have been slain. Mainly, of course, it's the other way around, with the hitch-hiker bopping the motorist.

The way to stop these tragedies on the highways is to stop hitch-hiking. If motorists refuse to pick up the road-thumbers, the hitch-hikers will abandon the practice.

Nordbeck regularly stopped for hitch-hikers despite repeated warnings from his friends, according to newspaper accounts of the slaying. He enjoyed companionship in his travels. Unfortunately, his friendliness ultimately cost him his life and apparently for no reason at all. The young killer can ascribe no motive for the crime.

The tragic lesson that motorists can learn from the Nordbeck slaying is to pass up all hitch-hikers. The odds against you losing your life in auto accidents on the highway are high enough, without adding the menace of being slain.

Multiple Fund Drives Opposed

A N organization to consider combining all health and welfare fund campaigns in Wisconsin was launched Sunday in Milwaukee. Further meetings are planned to explore the problem and to develop an united campaign, if this should be found desirable.

Impetus for the Wisconsin movement stemmed from the success of the Michigan United Health and Welfare Fund in the industrial cities of the Lower Peninsula. The Michigan United fund has not yet developed any substantial momentum in the Upper Peninsula, but it probably will within the next year or two.

The multiplicity of health fund drives has brought about an unfavorable reaction from the general public. This is particularly true among those people who in the past have assumed the thankless burden of conducting the individual drives and doing the door to door solicitation.

Aside from the considerable volunteer labor that the single drive saves, the advantage of the United Fund is that it provides the means to fairly appraise the financial needs of the various agencies participating in the fund. In this manner it is possible to more equitably distribute money contributed for health and welfare needs.

It is true that many of the larger welfare agencies, such as the American Red Cross, have resisted the United Fund principle and still insist upon developing separate fund raising campaigns. In the final accounting, however, it will be the public and not the official of the various agencies who will determine whether there will be a single fund raising campaign or a multiplicity of drives. If the persons who foot the bill insist that their contributions be distributed through an United Fund, the individual campaign will perish through lack of support.

Atomic Issue Is Shaping Up

WEATHER the United States will share its atomic secrets with Great Britain and Canada, reportedly the subject of a hush-hush conference of officials at the White House last week, is a decision that this government will be forced to make soon.

The policy up to the present has been to maintain the utmost secrecy on atomic developments and to refuse to share any of these secrets with any of the wartime allies. There still is a general inclination in this country to maintain this policy.

Unfortunately, however, much of the uranium used in atomic research in this country is made available from supplies controlled by Britain and Canada. These countries, which are regarded as the friendliest allies of the United States in the sphere of nations, are pressing for greater knowledge of atomic science and have requested this government to share some of its atomic secrets with scientists of their countries.

Failure to do so presumably will result in a reduction of the uranium supplies now available to this country. It is reported that if uranium now coming from Britain and Canada sources are cut off, the United States would be forced to cutback production of atomic bombs by as much as 50 per cent.

In view of fears that Russia may have unlocked the secret of atomic energy and has already produced an atom bomb, or is about to do so, the natural desire in this country is to maintain a stock pile of atomic weapons that is assuredly greater than the Russian supply. That objective may figure in the decision that must soon be made whether to share our atomic secrets with Britain and Canada, both countries of which made substantial contributions to atomic research in collaboration with the United States during the war.

Economist Offers New Slant On Profits

THE CIO's most recent economic report, prepared by Robert R. Nathan, stresses again the view of many labor leaders that business profits are a sort of pie to be divided among various claimants.

Listening to these leaders, you get the idea they believe the pie really was stolen from somebody's kitchen window. And that only by handing most of it over to workers can management atone for its sins.

Now no one with any honesty or sense of fair play will condone a management which tries to gouge the public through high prices and at the same time denies to workers their proper share of production.

But it's time we got away from superficial, short-run definitions of profits. Peter Drucker, an economist, outlines in Fortune Magazine a broader view that is worth examining as a novel contribution.

Here's his notion of profits:

First of all, an economic enterprise, like any other institution in society, must seek its own survival. It must do this not for itself alone but for the society it serves.

The enterprise's "economic performance" tells whether or not it will survive.

Cost, broadly defined, and increased productivity are the tests of economic performance.

Profit, or "profitability" as Drucker prefers, is the measure of both cost and increased productivity. Thus it is the gauge of economic performance, of the ability of an enterprise to stay alive and contribute to society.

Drucker says cost includes the cost of doing business, the future cost of staying in business (largely the risks of the unforeseen), a share of the future losses of unsuccessful enterprises, and a share of society's non-economic burden.

This last includes the government and all the various social services like hospitals, schools and churches. Obviously all these are supported by productive enterprises.

The successful businesses must be capable of bearing this load plus the cost of many failures. If the surviving enterprises do not cover these costs, the economy will contract and society will suffer. So continues the Drucker argument.

As for productivity, any increase adds to profitability of an enterprise. But it may take many forms — higher wages, lower prices, heavier payments to capital for expansion of output in this or other enterprises.

In Drucker's view, the enterprise that does not cover costs as he defines them and at the same time boost productivity is a drag upon society. By his definition, any business must show profitability to survive.

Cold War Will Not Subside

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The greatest single victory of Russian Communism since the end of World War II was the conquest of Czechoslovakia. The destruction of the Roman Catholic church now being systematically carried out is the final move in a campaign planned step by step in Moscow.

The west will ignore the object lesson of Czechoslovakia at its peril. Perhaps the best analysis of the downfall of the once democratic Czech republic has just been published and it is "must" reading for everyone, but especially for those who take the complacent view that the cold war is subsiding.

The author is Ivo Duchacek, now in this country, who was formerly in the Czech diplomatic service. After the liberation in 1945, he was chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Czech parliament. His memorandum, called "The Strategy of Communist Infiltration: The Case of Czechoslovakia," is being circulated among top policy planners here. It was put out by the Yale Institute of International Studies.

NO ALLIED POLICY

Czech Democrats trying to resist Communist infiltration had a feeling of being abandoned by the west, Duchacek says. After the war ended, Great Britain and the United States seemed to have no positive policy. American forces in Europe were reduced so rapidly that American power appeared negligible.

Just across Czechoslovakia's border was the might of the Soviet Union, which seemed to be expanding without any restraints imposed on it. Czechs schooled in the Communist underground during the war and in Moscow were taking over key positions in the country in accord with a detailed plan worked out long in advance.

This came on top of the tragic blunders made by the Western Allies as the war was drawing to an end; conspicuously, the command to stop the victorious western armies short of Prague, leaving the capital to be "liberated" by the Russians. And always in the background was the bitter memory of Britain's appeasement of Nazi Germany at Munich.

It was Soviet power on the one hand and the lack of an active western policy and of cohesion among western European nations on the other," Duchacek writes, "that were mainly responsible for the self-assurance of the Communist minority and for the feeling of helpless isolation on the Democratic side. The sharp contrast between the active influence of the east and the hesitant policy of the west in Europe was not only the background but the chief cause of Communist success in Czechoslovakia, of the number of opportunist fellow-travelers and of the democratic defeats.

The checkmating of Soviet power thus seems the first condition of an awakening of the Democratic courage and resistance in Europe.

OUR GOOD INTENTIONS

This, of course, has a direct bearing on what congress does or does not do about President Truman's request for arms for western Europe. If, as some senators insisted in the debate on ratification, the Atlantic pact must not mean even a moral obligation, then in both western and eastern Europe they will take it as a sign that while America's intentions are good, there is no real determination to back up those intentions.

Those who believe in western democracy fail to realize, Duchacek points out, that Communism is a revolutionary conspiracy employing every kind of strategem, legal and illegal, to overthrow democracy. Communists in Czechoslovakia's coalition government after the war used their control of the ministries of interior and agriculture to their popular notion that older people are physically and mentally deteriorated.

A stimulating addition to the collection would be some of the insects and specimens of flowers and fungus gathered by that 79-year-old Louisiana State university botany professor to while away the time after he and his octogenarian wife crashed-landed on a mountain slope in the Arctic. The couple might even be induced to tell the institution's next symposium just what they were doing up there at their age!

Peasants who did not vote for the Communists out of fear of the ministry of interior, voted for them because of the ministry of agriculture's promise. These promises doubled and tripled those of the agrarian party. As one democratic leader bitterly expressed it:

"We have asked our peasants to vote for the philosophical heritage of Thomas Maramay. They have voted for fertilizers instead."

Duchacek closes with a final note of warning to the west: "It is up to the western world to develop a courageous political and economic program, a daring program of social reform. . . . It must be borne in mind that Communist seduction operates at its best when obvious social injustice or lack of respect for basic human rights is met by a negative or faltering attitude."

The 81st congress has ignored or side-tracked a long list of reforms called for by the party in power. Here, too, the world is watching to see whether good intentions have any relation to practical performance.

SECRETARY'S HANDBOOK

Q. What is the best way to write the initials meaning ante meridiem (before noon) and post meridiem (afternoon)?

A. Either A.M., P.M., or a.m., p.m. The Government Printing Office Style Manual, which governs all government printing, uses the lower-case a.m. and p.m. with no space between the letters.

Q. Recently you asked your readers to punctuate this sentence:

A. It is not correct. It might be mistaken for two undesignated Kansas cities (cities of Kansas). Correct: The two Kansas Citys.

A similar question came to me recently: Is it correct to write, "On the table were several Coronets and three Lives"? The answer is, no. Correct: . . . and three Lives; or: . . . three copies of Life.

Q. What is the status of "every now and then" and "every once in a while"?

A. The "every" is unnecessary and nonsensical. "Every" means "all; each without exception." Literally, then, "every now and then" means, "all the now and then;" and "every once in a while" means "all the once in a while." Better: now and then; once in a while; occasionally; often; sometimes; at intervals.

Q. My boss insists that this sentence is good English: "This is all the further that I will go into the matter." He's wrong, isn't he?

Money Still Can Be Made, Retired Banker Confides

A man can still make money in this country, but he'll have to turn to different enterprises than when I was a younger man, E. J. Bergman, 88, retired Bark River bank cashier, candidly observed in a special interview this week.

"When I came to Bark River, in 1884, logging and mining were the big business enterprises in this part of the country. Today it's farming, with timber next in line. When we first opened the Bark River State bank in 1910, we had $50,000. Today there is over a million dollars on deposit. That money comes from farming," the gainfully six-foot businessman stated.

"We have many very productive farms in the Bark River area. Farmers are making good profits. Of course, there are more people living here now than ever before."

"Did you notice the buildings in Bark River? There are no shacks, and all the homes are in good repair. We are very proud of that."

Logging Partners

E. J. Bergman, who was born March 23, 1864 in Little Suamico, Wis., began his career as a railroad telegrapher for the Chicago and Northwestern railway. When he was a boy of 11, the fingers of his right hand were severed while he was playing in a sawmill. By the time he was 20 and ready to start working, he had no trouble using his left hand.

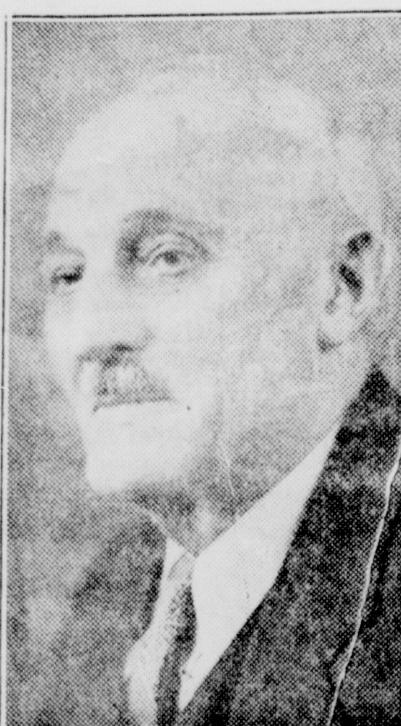

He worked for the C&NW at Necedah, Florence, Wis., Metropolitan, and Bark River, as well as Glendale, Iowa. He first came to Bark River as an extra agent. Following two years out west, and several months at U. P. railroad stations, he returned to Bark River on April 1, 1889.

In 1893, the same year he and Ella Douglas, daughter of the late George W. Douglas, were married, he left the railroad and formed a logging partnership with John Gasman. The two jobbed timber in the Bark River area for many years. The first 13 springs, Bergman accompanied the crew on log drives down the Bark River, and was able to swing nevile, canthook and axe with the best of them.

Started Bank

Gasmann died in the early 1900's, but the logging operations begun by them were continued by Bergman until 1928. Pine, cedar, hemlock and hardwood were cut. "Some years we took out over 300,000 posts and ties, and three or four million feet of logs," he recalls.

big family in these times," Mr. Bergman observes.

Bergman owns a 320-acre farm in Bark River and considerable timberland in the area. "Last year," he says, "I sold over $12,000 worth of stumpage on second-growth timber."

The retired bank president, whose parents immigrated to Wisconsin from Germany, enjoys good health. In fact, he says that outside of a year spent doctoring for leg trouble some time ago, he never was sick. The leg trouble was caused by pyorrhea, and since he had his teeth pulled, he has had no trouble.

Travelled Considerably

We asked Mr. Bergman if he was a good log-birler when he was operating logging camps. "Sure. Of course none of us did all the fancy tricks you see in a rolo. I sure enjoy those though," he admits.

Mr. Bergman is also a well-traveled man. He has visited nearly every state, those in the southland being the exceptions. He has also toured in Canada. When asked if there is any place he'd like to see, he says, no, that he has seen all he cares to.

"I'd like to have been in Detroit this weekend though. My granddaughter was married. Her five sisters were her bridesmaids, and sang. Those same five, he proudly tells you, toured Europe, Asia, and the United States as entertainers with the USO."

North Canada

One trip which Mr. Bergman made he considers very noteworthy. In 1928, shortly after an Englishman from South Africa discovered copper in the Flin Flon area, 200 miles north of Winnipeg, he made a trip into Canada to visit his nephew, Nicholas Kayser of Milwaukee.

Kayser, whom Bergman helped through college, was chief engineer for the construction of dams on the Churchill river, to supply power for operation of the newly discovered copper deposits. This same mine, by the way, is considered one of the largest operating today.

Bergman met Kayser in Winnipeg, and the two traveled to the Churchill river by a 300-mile rail road the company had built to give access for the dam project. From there they ferried up the Churchill with Indian guides. In eight places, they left the river and traveled by land around dams.

"The 11 engineers on the project had over 800 men working with them," Bergman recalls.

Indian Markings

"It was a strange feeling one had when going through this north country. In places one was certain no white man had ever been there before. Trails over 1000 years old had been worn ditched by Indians on foot. Here and there one saw trees, mostly spruce, covered with Indian markings. I should imagine that if one knew what they meant, a great deal of Indian history could be found on those trees," he reflects.

Bergman spent three weeks there with his nephew, who was then as new, employed by the New York Dry Dock Co. "Spruce is about the only tree that really grows in that country. A few poplars are the only exception," he says.

Another nephew of Bergman's, Ed Kayser, is superintendent of the nickel plant at Sudbury, Ont., the largest nickel producing plant in the world. Still another nephew Dr. Lawrence Kayser, practices dentistry in Milwaukee.

"Shares in the copper mines at Flin Flon sold for 75 cents," Berg-

LOUISIANA'S CREPE DRAPE — A mournful motorist pulls up to a crepe-draped gas pump in New Orleans, La., where he'll shell out anywhere from 30½ to 32½ cents per gallon for gas. Demonstration marked "Black Tuesday," first anniversary of the two-cent gas tax increase passed by the Louisiana State Legislature.

Re-Heating Earth Required For Low Cost Use Of Pumps

By SCIENCE SERVICE
Minneapolis.—The "heat pump" method of heating a house, in which heat is taken from the cold earth and built up into a home-warming temperature, is economical only when the system is used in reverse during hot spells to return heat to the ground.

This in substance is the conclusion of studies made by three research men of the Consolidated Gas Electric Light and Power company of Baltimore, Md., presented here to the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers. They are E. W. Guernsey, P. L. Betz and N. H. Skau. The great length of ground coil needed makes installation costly where no heat is returned to the ground, they said.

This method of heating buildings from heat gathered from the earth, or from water in deep wells, is now in use in a few houses, in almost every state in the union and also in many foreign countries. The heat pump is a device which picks up heat at a lower temperature, such as from earth, water or air, and delivers it at a higher temperature.

It "steps up" the temperature by compressing a gas when it is returned after circulation through coils in contact with the heat sources. Electric power is usually employed for its operation. However, it delivers generally much more heat than could be obtained from the electric energy if used in ordinary electrical heating. In summer, the heat pump and system can be used in reverse to cool the house and deliver heat back into the earth.

When heat is to be withdrawn from the earth, and no heat is returned, by means of a straight vertical cylinder, a length of pipe 400 to 500 feet would be required, these scientists stated. To withdraw heat from the earth without return by means of a grid of small pipes so closely spaced that they are in effect as a heat receiving plate, 13,000 square feet of heat receiving surface would be required.

A surface only about one-fourth as great, some 2,600 square feet, is required where heat is periodically withdrawn and returned to the earth by means of the same type of grid of small pipes. Much less pipe is required under the same condition with the straight vertical cylinder.

We may be given so much time to stuffing students with the end-product of someone else's thinking that we are tending increasingly to scamp the job of teaching students to think for themselves. — Charles Dillard, president, Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Commercial Fish Production Still Falling On Lakes

Commercial fish production in all Michigan waters of the Great Lakes amounts to only 7,300,000 pounds for the first five months of the year, the conservation department discloses, with the lamprey, the weather and some pollution getting the blame from fishermen. The total May catch was a below-normal 2,372,000 pounds.

The better than average haul for the entire 12 months last year exceeded 30,000,000 pounds.

May reports received by the department's fish division from commercial fishermen reveal Lake Superior as the only location where lake trout production still is holding up although more lampreys are turning up in the nets. The May take increased 80,000 pounds over April to reach 383,000 pounds.

A sharp decline to 23,000 pounds in the Lake Michigan catch of lake trout was registered as compared to past May production figures ranging from 130,000 to 350,000 pounds. With only 72 pounds of trout taken in May, the five-month total from Lake Huron hit a new low of 181 pounds.

One bright spot in the May reports is the continued above-normal haul of 412,000 pounds of whitefish from Lake Michigan. Commercial fishermen reported an average Lake Superior take of 58,000 pounds of whitefish. The 52,000 pounds taken in Lake Huron was a marked decrease compared to previous hauls.

The netting of yellow pike from Saginaw bay produced only 38,000 pounds with the drop attributed by fishermen to the pollution. Yearly take prior to 1944 averaged 1,000,000 pounds.

Two-Way Radio Will Help Veterinarians

Detroit.—Two-way radio is expected to be a great help in veterinarians making their many miles of rounds in the country. Dr. R. E. Rasmussen of Bloomfield, Iowa, pointed out at the meeting here of the American Veterinary Medical Association, it should aid greatly in grouping his calls, especially when an unanticipated call comes in after he has already left his office.

Word of emergencies that are most apt to arise just when the "vet's" services are most urgently needed, such as flooded roads and washed-out bridges, can be flashed to the practitioner as he speeds on his way, enabling him to choose alternate routes and save many hours of valuable time, he added. Also, if anything happens to his car or his equipment while he is out, repair parts or reserve supplies can be rushed to him, eliminating time-wasting trips back to town.

Heat Pump Utilizes Warmth In Cold Air; Proves Economical

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Minneapolis, June 21—Heat obtained from cold water in a well by means of the so-called heat pump kept a Portland, Ore., 12-story office building comfortably warm during the past severe winter at half the cost of coal, it was reported here today to the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers by J. Donald Kroeker, consulting engineer of Portland, and two of his assistants, Ray C. Cheuning and Charles E. Graham.

This heating system was installed in the building a year ago and careful records were kept by the Kroeker firm which designed it. It is the largest heat pump system in an office building in this country. The system, however, is in use in a few dwellings and other small buildings in many of the American states and in several foreign countries.

The principle behind the heat pump is the same as used in the common household electric refrigerator. It does a reverse job, however, in being employed for heating rather than cooling. But the ordinary refrigerator takes heat from the materials placed within it and delivers this heat outside the refrigerator. The same heat pump that provides winter comfort to a building can be used in reverse in summer months to provide cooling.

The heat pump utilizes the small amount of heat in the outside cold air, in the earth itself below frost line, or in the water in a deep well. It requires coils of piping in the source to be used, through which a "refrigerant" is pumped. This picks up a small amount of heat from the air, earth or water through which it passes and, by means of the heat pump, delivers it at a higher temperature to the space to be warmed. The heat pump steps up the temperature when it returns after circulating through the coils.

The Portland structure is a rental office building with reinforced concrete construction, with aluminum facing. The double-pane windows extend from column to column, thereby taking up almost the entire facade area. The exterior pane is heat-absorbing glass, which reduces the heat loss due to glass by 50 percent and the heat gain by 40 percent, they stated.

CLASSES

TROUT

1. Brook Trout (Salvelinus fontinalis)
2. Brown Trout (Salmo trutta)
3. Rainbow Trout (Salmo irideus)
4. Lake Trout, Mackinaw Trout (Cristivomer namaycush)
5. Pike and Muskelunge (Esox lucius)
6. Muskelunge (Esox masquinongy)
7. Wall-eyed Pike, Pike Perch (Stizostedion vitreum)
- (Additional classes will be added if interest warrants)

PAN FISH

8. Small Mouth Bass (Micropterus dolomieu)
9. Large Mouth Bass (Micropterus salmoides)
10. Perch (Perca flavescens)
11. Sunfish (Lepomis gibbosus)
12. Bluegill (Lepomis paludicola)
13. Rock Bass (Ambloplites rupestris)

Failure to give length and girth may disqualify entries. Fish must be weighed on tested scales and measured with a steel tape measure, the latter taken from the mouth to the tip of the tail, and the greatest girth of the fish taken. Weight may be given dressed or in the round or both.

In the wall-eyed pike and black bass classes a photograph is desirable to be sure of identity of the species.

In the event of two or more fish weighing and measuring exactly the same, identical trophies will be awarded. Greatest measurements will decide the winners when weights are approximately equal.

Accompany your entry with a photograph of yourself or the fish or both together with a brief story of how and where the fish was caught. A photograph is not essential to win an award but it is desirable.

The entry blank printed above or an exact copy must be used. It must be signed by the person catching the fish and by two witnesses who examined the fish and verified its weight and measurements. The contestant agrees, if requested to do so by the judges, to furnish an affidavit attesting to the truth of all statements made in the entry.

Contestants may make as many entries in all classes as they wish.

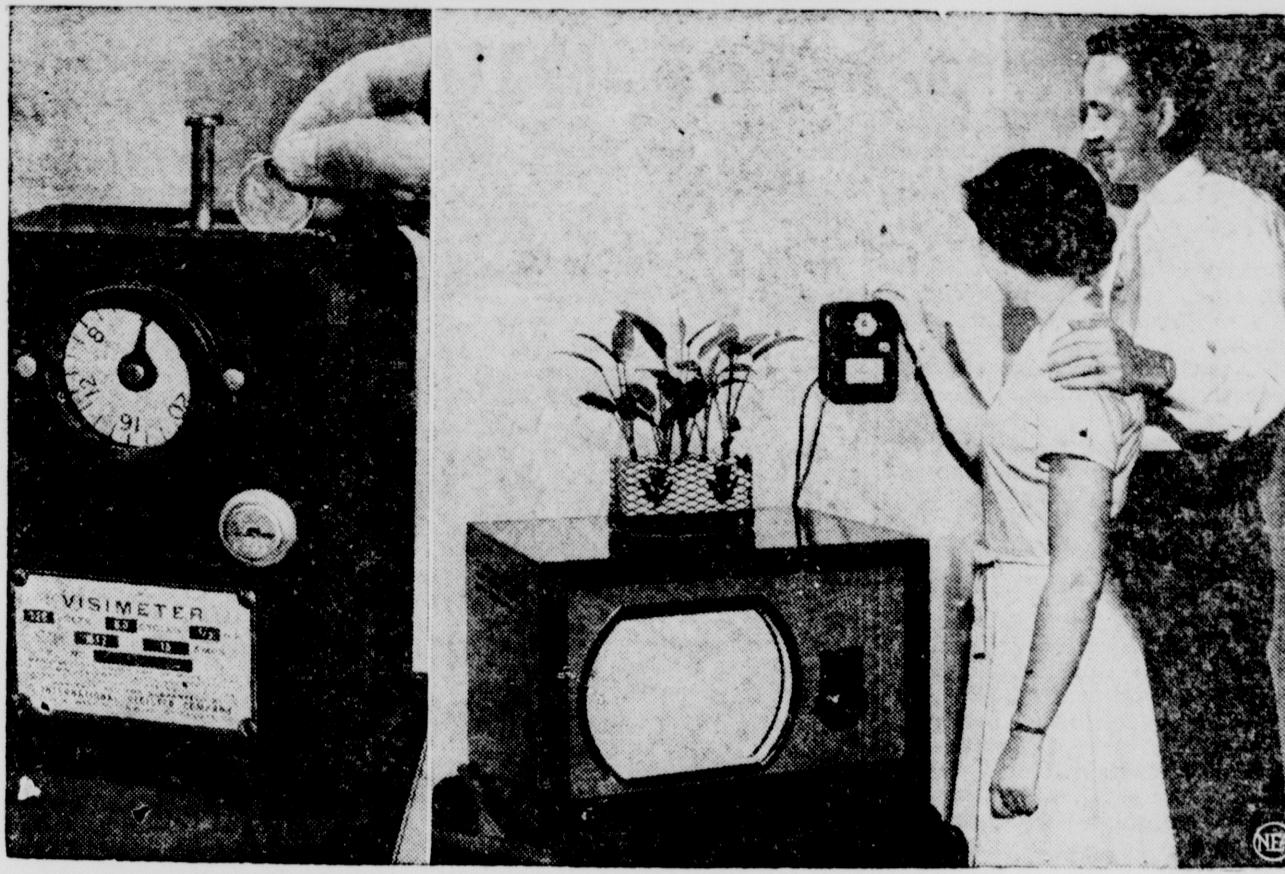

PRIZE AWARDS

In each of the classes the angler entering the fish which is adjudged to be the largest in its class will receive a trophy in recognition of his or her accomplishment.

Additional blanks may be had free of charge by addressing Outdoors Editor, Escanaba Daily Press, Escanaba, Michigan.

Religion Will Play Important Part In Warfare Of Orient

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Out of mystic India comes a story so strange that it reads like fantasy. Attention is called to it here because it epitomizes a situation which I believe will play a vital part in the great war of the ideologies developing in the Orient.

On July 1 the old and princely state of Travancore will combine with the adjoining principality of Cochin and the 36-year-old Maharajah of Travancore will become Titular head. He will be responsible to the new government of India.

There's nothing startling in this transaction, of course, because some 565 principalities of India are being absorbed by the new Delhi government. The strange part is this:

For 200 years the real ruler of Travancore has been the Hindu God Padmanabha, and the Maharajahs have acted as stewards of the deity. The princes have sworn allegiance only to the god, and every night have deposited the keys of the state treasury at the god's feet in token of this, picking the keys up in the morning.

Maharajah Careful

It took the Indian government about a year to persuade the present Maharajah to change the status of his state. However, your columnist accepts the prince's explanation as sincere, having spent much time in India and knowing how intensely religious both the Hindus and the Moslems are. I have seen one of the greatest of the Indian rulers—a highly cultured man with a western education—prostrate on the temple floor before a Hindu idol. He was a very religious man, and his fervor was typical.

Religion plays a major part in the lives of both Hindus and Moslems. It not only is spiritual but in many respects dominates the ordinary ways of daily life, even in the matter of food and drink. The same may be said of various other religions in that

In any event, it will be an Epochal fight.

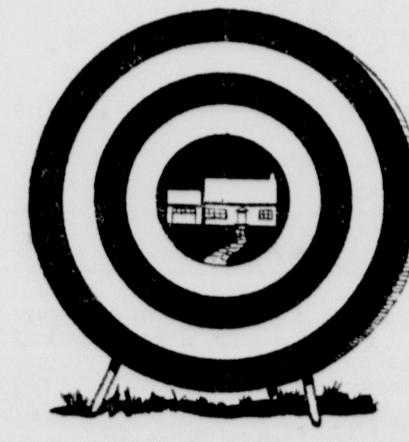

Reservists Ask Army Showdown

Grand Rapids, Mich., (AP) — Leading U. S. reserve officers have promised "the people in the Pentagon" a showdown battle over the make-up of the nation's armed forces.

Arriving here for the opening of the Reserve Officers Association convention, they expressed dissatisfaction with the slow progress of a reserve training program.

"It's four years since the war," said Col. Clarence E. Barnes of Tulsa, Okla., head of the ROA, "and we've tried to get a reserve training program underway, but it's still lagging."

The day when ships will be propelled by a small quantity of uranium is drawing nearer.

SELF-STARTER 40 YEARS OLD

Charles Kettering Was First Inventor

Dayton, Ohio, (SS)—The relay-controlled ignition and first automotive electric self-starter, invented 40 years ago, were reviewed here by its originators on the anniversary of the incorporation of Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company, Delco for short, a name now used by four General Motors manufacturing divisions.

The inventors were Charles F. Kettering, until recently head of General Motors Research Laboratories, Col. E. A. Deeds of the National Cash Register Company, and William A. Chryst, retired Delco Products chief engineer. All three were employees of the National Cash Register Company at the time the self-starter was developed, but the work was carried out on their own time in a shop which they set up in the loft of a barn belonging to Col. Deeds.

The first electric self-starter, conceived by Mr. Kettering, was a relay-controlled ignition system, which eliminated the old-time magneto and dry-cell battery ignitions, both unreliable for starting horseless carriages. It was installed in a Cadillac car and first shown at an auto show at Atlanta, Ga., in November, 1909.

This early so-called Kettering ignition was replaced later by an electric self-starter which Mr. Kettering visualized as a complete package to contain ignition, self-starter, generator and lighting system, basically what the Delco system is today. It was completed and tested in a Cadillac early in 1911, and resulted in a $2,000,000 order. Motorists, eager to get away from automotive hand cranks for starting, created a demand for the new self-starter and resulted in the establishment of Delco at Dayton as the nucleus of the various Delco units that later became GM divisions.

The three inventors of the relay-controlled ignition and first electric self-starter, Messrs. Kettering, Deeds and Chryst, were all present at the celebration.

Employment For Women Increases

By CLARKE BEACH

Washington — Employment for women is increasing while male employment is dropping.

The number of employed U. S. women increased from 16,602,000 in May 1948 to 17,173,000 in May this year. But in the same period the number of men at work dropped from 42,058,000 to 41,521,000.

These are Census Bureau figures as analyzed and reported by the Women's Bureau of the Labor Department.

Unemployment is hitting both sexes alike. The number of women and men seeking work rose almost 100 per cent for each sex. This is all a continuation of a long trend. Since the turn of the century, and earlier, the number of women working and seeking work has been on the increase. In the present period of unemployment, the trend has been accentuated.

Take the figures on the total force—the total of men and women both working and seeking work. The nation's labor force increased from 60,422,000 in May 1948 to 61,983,000 in May 1949.

Among men the increase in that period was only 1.4 per cent. Among women the increase was 5.5 per cent.

Women constituted only 18 per cent of the total labor force in 1900. They were 29 per cent of the labor force last May. Twenty per cent of women of 14 and older were gainfully employed in 1900. Last May, 31 per cent of them had jobs.

The trend for men was the reverse. Only 71 per cent of the adult male population was gainfully employed in May 1949. Yet 87 per cent of adult males were employed in 1900. The drop has been sharp even since 19440, when 79 per cent of adult males were working.

The explanation is that:

1. Men are staying in school longer. Also, the new pension programs make it easier for them to retire. They used to retire later or not at all.

2. Women are finding work opportunities they never had before. Labor saving devices are making it possible for them to get out of the kitchen. And they need money to buy the labor saving devices.

Women have been encouraged to work. Also, because the social attitude toward working women has changed. Furthermore, the average woman has fewer children now than formerly. The big increase of working women has come chiefly among those who were married.

Women once had too much to do at home even to consider getting a job. But the development of mass production, through the introduction of new machinery and distribution methods, has provided at economical prices the things they once had to provide themselves: clothing, laundry and canned and baked goods.

MACHINES OPEN FIELDS

The growth of factories, too, has created jobs that women are physically able to handle. And the development of business machines has given women new fields of employment.

Although the typewriter was put on the market shortly after the civil war, the "touch system" didn't come into general use until the 1880's. The rapid work made possible by this and shorthand methods revolutionized business processes.

Girls were often found to be more proficient for the work than men, and they would work for less. They flocked to the offices for jobs. There was a great moral protest—the temptations for men and women working together in the same offices, the physical strain of typing, which would ruin the girl's health.

But the fact is that women's life expectancy rose from 51.1 years in 1900 to 69.5 years in 1945.

And now fewer women are old maids. In 1900 31 per cent of women were single. In 1940 only 25 per cent were unmarried.

Paris Paper Says Russia Exploded An Atomic Bomb

Paris, (AP) — A Paris weekly newspaper claims in its current edition that Russia has exploded an atom bomb.

The story appeared in Samedy Soir, a weekly noted for sensationalism.

According to the newspaper, United States recording devices showed an atomic explosion in Siberia July 10.

This, said Samedy Soir, is the reason President Truman called a top-secret conference of military scientific and congressional leaders.

"The United States," said the weekly, "which had managed until now to keep monopoly of the atom bomb and of the material necessary for its production is in a frightful scare since the moment it knew the U. S. S. R. had pierced the secret of the bomb."

City Wide Collection Of Garbage Starting

City-wide collection of garbage and refuse will be started this week by Joe Larson and his son, Clement, who have entered into a contract with the City of Gladstone to handle the work for a five-year period.

A truck with a special Collecto-Pac body, designed specifically for garbage collection work, arrived over the weekend and is now being tested and the contractors schooled in its operation.

Beginning next Monday, August 1, collection will be made on a definite schedule, although some work will be done during the remainder of this week.

Starting next Monday the service will be on a weekly schedule for residences. Special provisions and arrangements will be made with restaurants, business houses, stores and other establishments which require more frequent service.

The garbage must be kept in galvanized covered containers, easily accessible. Ashes must be kept in a separate container. Both will be picked up weekly.

The weekly schedule which begins Monday follows:

Monday—Superior, Delta and Minnesota avenues.

Tuesday—Wisconsin, Michigan and Dakota avenues.

Wednesday—Montana, Minneapolis, Lake Shore Drive and South Gladstone.

Thursday—The Buckeye Addition, back of Roundhouse and Skelton Road area.

Saturday—Miscellaneous.

ROLEO WINDS UP IN 'BLACK'

Opinion Divided On 1950 Event; Okeh Auction

The 1949 Roleo held early this month is in the "black" about $25.00, a financial report on the event presented Tuesday evening at a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce by Secretary Joe VanArnam, who served as general chairman of the celebration, indicated.

Total receipts will run approximately $4,425.00 with expenditures about $4,400.00. Major source of income was from the roleo program. Major expense was the $165.00 in prize money for the log-rollers.

Constructive criticism on the 1949 Roleo was received and the question of asking the city commission to impose parking regulations on the main street or streets of the business section was discussed. Following lengthy mulling of the topic, a vote, which is to be advisory to the board of directors, was taken and was 12 to 11 for C-C backing of the event next year.

The question of asking the city commission to impose parking regulations on the main street or streets of the business section was raised and it was the consensus that if those who worked in the downtown area parked their autos off the main street there would be plenty of parking space for shoppers and outsiders.

Holding of a farm auction periodically was met with favor.

A special meeting of the board of directors is to be called to decide if Secretary VanArnam should attend a Chamber of Commerce Institute to be held at Northwestern University August 15 to 20.

TOURIST TRADE IS HOLDING UP

Accommodations Are Not All Taken, However

Lansing, (AP)—There are still plenty of accommodations in Michigan resort areas, according to the State Tourist council, said.

Furlong said he was trying to spike rumors that cottages, cabins, resorts and hotels were booked up through August.

"Reports we receive," he said, "indicate that accommodations are readily available throughout the entire resort area. We recommend as always, however, that reservations be made in advance."

He said the volume of tourist trade was holding at about last year's level but that accommodations had increased 10 per cent in the past year through new building and expansions.

He said that prices, in general, are about the same as last year, but that there had been some decrease in food prices.

Michigan State Police investigated a minor auto accident at Nahma Monday involving autos driven by Mrs. Charles Schram, city, and Olive Potter of LaCob, Ind. Police learned Mrs. Schram backed out from a parking spot on the main street into an auto driven by Mrs. Potter. Damage was slight.

Summer is the bright new season for the young hopefuls of the stage. Playhouses are set up in vacation spots and resort hotels offering entertainment to their guests are the lures for the budding stars. These summer players, known on Broadway as "straw hats," are glad to leave the heat and the grime of the city, the musty rooming houses, the stuffy agents' offices for the coolness of a mountain or a seashore resort—and a possible toehold to success. Some of the performers rate top billing, some are small bit players and the fledglings still in dramatic schools. CIRCUS DAYRouting Traffic Only
Police Headache

Circus day in Manistique passed without incident, except that the crowds were large and the show was generally enjoyed.

State and city police were kept busy throughout the afternoon and evening regulating the traffic, a task made arduous because the circus lot faced Highway U. S. 2. Whenever possible, cars not headed for the circus were routed.

Miller Brothers circus, sponsored by the Manistique Lions club, presented a clean show and an estimated crowd of three thousand attended the two performances. Members of the local service organization worked hard to assure a good attendance and realized a nice profit on their efforts. The exact figure of the net amount they received has not as yet been announced, but it will be well up in the several hundreds of dollars.

No disorders of any kind were reported by the police.

Mrs. Katherine Slough, 165 River street, died Monday evening at St. Francis hospital in Escanaba. She had been in failing health for the past several months.

Mrs. Slough was born in Cleveland, Ohio, on September 9, 1910 and came here from Chicago, Ill., several years ago. She attended the Methodist church.

Surviving her are her husband, Ivan; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schlitter, Bridgeman; an infant daughter, Darlene Kay; a brother, Franklin Schlitter, Chicago; and four sisters, Genevieve Schlitter, Bridgeman; Mrs. Joan Kornatz, and Mrs. Helen Blesy, Chicago, Ill.; and Mrs. Marge Vorrel, Bridgeman.

The body is at the Morton Funeral Home. Funeral plans are incomplete.

Garden Raiders
Causing Damage
Police Complain

City police report that they are being pestered with two types of petty juvenile delinquency—raiding of gardens and an epidemic of slingshot and air rifle depredations.

The garden trouble, Roy Anderson, chief of police states, is confined chiefly to carrot patches. The tap roots just starting to develop, are sweet and youngsters find them tempting. The chief source of annoyance lies in the fact that not one in ten of the carrots pulled up are large enough to eat. Several youngsters have had sessions with the police, and the parents of these boys are likely to get bills for damage from the property owners.

"Air rifles and sling shots are causing the same old trouble," says chief Anderson, "broken windows, dead song birds and property damage." These weapons he says will be confiscated, adding that someone is apt to get hurt.

Watertower Roof
Repairs Begun
Tuesday Morning

Workmen, under the direction of William M. Roman, of Escanaba, began repair work Tuesday morning on the roof of the city water tower.

The roof, which was in a bad state of disrepair, is being wire-brushed and will afterward receive a coat of asphalt roofing on which will be applied a coat of bronze paint.

The young man who saw service in World War II was born in Blaney on July 17, 1922, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornell, and had spent practically all of his life in the Germfask community.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two sisters, Eugene Nester and Miss Mary Ann Cornell, of Germfask and three brothers, Francis, of Boston; James, of Seney and Cecil, of Newberry.

SOCIALLegion Auxiliary

A regular business meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 83, was held Monday evening in the Legion hall. Prizes for the evening went to Lillian Grimsley, high, in five hundred, and Nellie Ott, second. In other games, Bertha Harding received high and Minola Weber, low. Mrs. Needham Loses In Quarterfinals In Upper Peninsula Women's Golf Meet

Norway Girl Is Medalist With 43-44

By Staff Writer
Marquette, July 27—Mrs. Harry Needham, Escanaba's lone entry in the twenty-second annual Upper Peninsula Women's Golf association tournament here, was eliminated in the quarterfinals early this afternoon by the tourney medalist, 17-year-old Betty Zeugner, of Norway. The margin was two up.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Mrs. Needham, who was three up at the turn, thanks to an even-man's par 4-5-3 start and two up teeing off at the fourteenth.

But young Miss Zeugner, whose father was caddying for her, overcame an early attack of nerves to settled down and play sparkling golf on the last few holes of the second round to overcome the Escanaba woman's lead.

Cuts Lead
It was Miss Zeugner's first tournament and after winning medal honors with a fine 43-44-87, it looked as if first-tournament jitters would prove her downfall until she settled down.

She cut Mrs. Needham's lead to one up with a par three on the 170-yard fifteenth and a woman's par four on the 240-yard sixteenth squared the match for the first time as the Escanaba golfer took a five.

The Norway lassie went one up with a seven to Mrs. Needham's eight on the par five seventh and her steady woman's par five on the eighteenth to Mrs. Needham's six gave her win at two up.

Other Winners
The Norway girl was to play Mrs. Frank J. Russell, jr., of Marquette, in the semifinals this afternoon. Mrs. Russell defeated Miss Rosalyn Caley, of Menominee 5 and 4.

In the lower bracket, the 17-year-old Miss Vinnie Colby, of Sault Ste. Marie, defeated Mrs. Anne Crane, Ishpeming, 8 and 6, and will play Mrs. Robert Harrison, Marquette, who defeated her clubmate, Miss Millie Johnson, 4 and 2, after leading four up at the turn.

The semifinals will be played today and finals tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Needham, of Escanaba, was fifth low qualifier in the annual U. P. Women's Golf association in Marquette yesterday with a 97. Medalist honors went to young Miss Betty Zeugner, of Norway, who shot a commendable 43-44-87, one of the lowest qualifying scores in U. P. women's golf in many years. Mrs. Needham and Miss Zeugner were paired in the quarterfinal round this morning.

Mrs. Frank J. Russell, jr., of Marquette, runnerup last year, and Miss Vinnie Colby, of Sault Ste. Marie, tied for second with 93's, the former shooting 47-46 and the latter turning in 48-45. Miss Millie Johnson, of Marquette, was fourth with 47-48-95.

First round results yesterday afternoon follow:

Mrs. Needham, Escanaba, defeated Mrs. Carroll C. Rushton, Marquette, 6-4.

Mrs. Crane, of Ishpeming, defeated Miss Helen Watson, Marquette, 5-4.

Mrs. Harrison, Marquette, defeated Mrs. Fred Charter, Marquette, 5-4.

Miss Colby, Soc, defeated Mrs. Louise Beldi, Marquette, 10-8.

Miss Johnson, Marquette, defeated Mrs. May Beach, Marquette, 4-3.

Mrs. Russell, Marquette, defeated Miss Jean Ives, Ishpeming, 3-2.

Miss Zeugner, Norway, defeated Mrs. Herman Olson, Marquette, 3-2.

Miss Caley, Menominee, defeated Mrs. Jean Thompson, Marquette, 3-2.

The tournament dinner was to be served in the Marquette clubhouse this evening.

'Old-Man' Moses Joins Exclusive 2,000-Hit Group

Philadelphia, July 27 (P)—"Old Man" Wally Moses holds a membership today in that exclusive fraternity of major league baseball players who have collected 2,000 or more hits.

The 36-year-old veteran of 14 seasons in the big time achieved that mark last night when he clouted a single to right field in the fifth inning of the Philadelphia Athletics-St. Louis Browns game.

Mos. became the 86th major leaguer to win a membership card in the "2,000 Club" and only the third active player to boast such a record.

The Chicago White Sox' Luke Appling has 2,658 hits to his credit and Pittsburgh's Dixie Walker 2,046 including yesterday's games. The all-time mark of 4,191 was set by Ty Cobb.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Two new faces have appeared on the U. P. women's tournament golf scene and both belong to youth.

More specifically, they belong to Miss Betty Zeugner, of Norway, who shot a fine 43-44-87 to win medalist honors by six strokes to the U. P. women's golf tournament in Marquette yesterday and to Miss Vinnie Colby, of Sault Ste. Marie, who was tied for second medalist with Mrs. Frank J. Russell, jr., the capable Marquette golfer who last year was runnerup here to Miss Betty Crowell, of Iron Mountain.

At this writing, these two young misses are favored to meet in the finals tomorrow afternoon for the title vacated by Miss Crowell, a research engineer in Philadelphia who could not defend her title this summer. She's much too busy preparing to go to Switzerland for a year's study.

The upper bracket for quarterfinal play this a. m. were Escanaba's Mrs. Harry Needham and Miss Zeugner. Mrs. Russell and Miss Rosalyn Caley, an old campaigner from Menominee, and in the lower bracket were Miss Colby and Mrs. Anne Crane, Ishpeming, another veteran campaigner, and Miss Johnson and Mrs. Robert Harrison, both of Marquette.

Youth has been served often in Upper Peninsula golf ranks. Whether it will be served today and tomorrow in Marquette remains to be seen.

Speaking of youth, 19-year-old Bruce Christenson, runnerup to Escanaba's then 17-year-old Ray Hirn for the U. P. men's championship last year, shot a three-under-par 69 to lead his Menominee North Shore club to a 52-48 victory over Menominee Riverside on the Riverside course last weekend.

The only other below-70 score we've heard of in the U. P. to date this season is young Tom Messinger's 69 at Norway. The Houghton golfer, U. P. champion in 1941 at the age of 15, was playing a practice round in preparation for the U. P. men's tournament at Iron Mountain and Norway Aug. 11-12-13-14.

Putter Takes On Added Importance In Western

St. Paul, Minn., July 27 (P)—The putter, always an important club to any golfer, took on new importance today on the eve of the 46th Western Open tournament.

The reason? Keller course, a par

72, 6,557-yard layout, is a victim of the weather. Hot, dry weather of the past few weeks has eliminated the rough and dried up the fairways to produce a long roll.

Because of this, most of the 123 players likely will get on the greens in two or three strokes.

The man with magic in his putter thus will be mostly likely to succeed even more than usual.

Because of this, it appeared that a couple of records may be bettered. One of them is Johnny Palmer's Western Open record of 270, set in 1947 at Salt Lake City. The other is Henry Ransom's 268 in 1946 with which he won the St. Paul Open, supplanted by the western classic this year.

Adding to the feeling that some new figures may be posted is the class of the field. The top 14 money winners in the ranks of the Professional Golfers Association are on hand for the opening of play tomorrow.

Heading the amateur contingent will be Robert "Skee" Reigel, Western amateur champion and Walker Cup star, and Charles "Chick" Evans, jr., the only amateur ever to win the Western Open.

The 123 will play Thursday and Friday, after which the field will be cut with the low 60 continuing Saturday and Sunday.

TENNIS STAR TURNS TO GOLF—Like Ellsworth Vines before him, Fred Perry, England's great international tennis star who dominated the courts in the mid-thirties, has turned to golf. He is serving as tennis professional at Florida's swank Boca Raton club but he's taken up serious golf and is consistently in the low seventies. He is one of the longest hitters playing the course, consistently bettering 250 yards on his tee shots. Perry is reported to be thinking of becoming a professional golfer, but Tommy Armour, the Silver Scot who won the U. S. Open in 1927 and is now golf pro at Boca Raton, warns him that golf requires a lot of patience.

It Was A Happy Day For Bosox When McDermott Said He'd Stay

(By The Associated Press)

The biggest break the Boston Red Sox got this season was when Maurice "Call Me Lefty" McDermott swallowed his pride and consented to return to the minors for more seasoning.

Because of that decision, the Red Sox today own the brightest young pitching star in the American League.

Last April, when Manager Joe McCarthy farmed him out to Louisville, the 20-year-old left-hander was so incensed that for a while, he was ready to return to his home in Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

"I was so mad then," the youngster was quoted as saying the other day, "that I was ready to blow my top. I guess, for once, I had some good sense. I thought it over and came to the conclusion that McCarthy was right."

Not long after McDermott set an American Association record by striking out 20 St. Paul players in a single game, lefty was recalled by the Red Sox. That was on June 12. Since then he's made six starts and won three.

The Yankees and runner-up Cleveland Indians were idle.

The St. Louis Cardinals increased their National League lead to a game and a half over Brooklyn. The Redbirds, 9-5, after the Philadelphia Phils, 9-5, at the Dodger's, 6-0.

Harry Brecheen pitched a so-so game but was aided by a 16-hit barrage by his mates to earn his eighth victory. Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter each rapped a pair of doubles and a single. Red Schoendienst cracked three singles and a double. Rocky Nelson batted in three runs with two singles and a two-bagger. Robin Roberts was the loser.

Sam Chapman's single with two out in the 10th inning scored Eddie Joost with the run that gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Wally Moses, veteran Philadelphia outfielder, singled in the fifth for the 2,000th hit of his Major League career. He became the third active player to accomplish the feat, and the 6th in baseball history. Luke Appling of the White Sox and Dixie Walker of Pittsburgh are the other actives to hit 2,000.

Dino Restelli backed Ernie Bonham's six-hit pitching with a two-run homer to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Giants.

The Cincinnati Reds knocked out Johnny Antonelli, Boston's $70,000 bonus pitcher, in the second inning, and went on to whip the Braves, 6-3.

New England Hard Hit, Governors Say

One Out Of Every Eight Workers Unemployed

Boston, July 27 (AP)—Three New England governors disagree with Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer's belief that the region's economy is "fundamentally sound."

Govs. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts and Chester Bowles of Connecticut told Sawyer yesterday that unemployment in their states is critical with one out of every eight workers jobless.

Gov. Frederick G. Payne of Maine said the economic situation in his state was "little different" from that in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

Sawyer said before returning to Washington after conferences with public officials and business and labor leaders here that "there are serious spots, but it is not any worse than I expected to find."

The commerce secretary said, however, he would make a "preliminary" report immediately on New England's unemployment problem to President Truman and John R. Steelman, presidential aide.

Sawyer, who is making a 10-weeks survey of the nation's business conditions as a forerunner of federal aid to hard-hit areas, declined to say what federal action, if any, he favored for New England.

Anton Zaborsky Dies In Chicago; Was Garden Farmer

Anton Zaborsky, 63, a former resident of Garden, died Monday afternoon in Chicago at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Yakutis, with whom he had lived for the past eight years following the death of his wife.

Born in 1886, Mr. Zaborsky is a former resident of Garden, where he spent 15 years before retiring from farming.

The body has been received in Escanaba and is in state at the Anderson funeral home.

The survivors are two daughters Mrs. Yakutis of Chicago and Mrs. Reuben (Heleen) Sundling of Isabella, and seven grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Anderson funeral home. Burial will be in the cemetery at Moss Lake near Isabella.

Dodge To Test Self As Race Boat Driver

Detroit, July 27 (AP)—Horace Dodge, millionaire sportsman, said he would give himself a driver's test today to find out whether he is fit to pilot My Sweetie in the Harmsworth Trophy races.

The owner of My Sweetie may go the full route of 42 nautical miles on the Detroit river to test himself for the races Friday and Saturday.

My Sweetie is the third United States entry for the races. The others are Jack Schaefer's Such Crust I and Stanley Dollar's Skip-a-long. The Canadian challenger, Miss Canada IV, is due in Detroit today preparatory to a trial run tomorrow.

Dodge's decision to subject himself to a rigid driving test was made yesterday after a conference with Lou Fageol, a member of the United States Selection committee. The committee was reported to have been critical of Dodge's handling of My Sweetie in the trials last Saturday.

If the driver's test convinces Dodge the going is too rugged for him, he is expected to turn the wheel over to his veteran driver, Wild Bill Cantrell, who drove My Sweetie to victory in the Gold Cup.

Joe Louis Fires 69 But Loses Golf Tilt

New York, July 27 (AP)—A torrid 69 wasn't good enough to keep former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis in the Ray Robinson golf tournament.

Despite this sub-par round over the par 70 Staten Island South Shore club, the Brown Bomber bowed to Roy Faber of New York. Faber shot a 68 and won, one up, in yesterday's first round.

This was in the amateur match play division of the event.

Howard Wheeler of Philadelphia and Bill Spiller of Los Angeles took the lead in the 72-hole professional medal play division with 68's.

Would-Be Suicide Will Lose Vision

Youngstown, O., July 27 (AP)—Youngster, 16-year-old Fred Hogler may recover from his suicide attempt, but he will be blind.

Physicians at Youngstown hospital reported the bullet wound in his temple had blotted out the sight in both eyes. His condition is serious.

The boy shot himself with a pistol Monday while held in the juvenile detention home.

VINCE DUNDEE DIES

Glendale, Calif., July 27 (AP)—Vincent (Vince) Dundee, former middleweight boxing champion, died today in a sanitarium where he had been confined since 1942. He was 41. Sanitarium officials said death was due to multiple sclerosis.

SPORTS MIRROR

Today a year ago—Boston Red Sox won their 13th straight game behind Ellis Kinder, beating Tigers at Detroit, 8-0.

Whites Hurl Rocks At Home of Negro

Chicago, July 27 (AP)—Seven white men were summoned into court today on disorderly conduct charges in connection with a disturbance near a Negro family's house in a white neighborhood.

The seven men and four juveniles were arrested last night after police said they stopped cars and carried anti-Negro signs near the home of Roscoe G. Johnson at 7153 St. Lawrence avenue.

Johnson, 52 year old part-time postoffice employee and a Northwestern university graduate, moved into his newly purchased south side home Monday with his wife and a roomer. Some 1,000 persons gathered and rocks and road flares were thrown at the two-story brick home. One white man was arrested.

Strategists say the advantages of such Arctic staging bases would include:

(A) Operation of forward airfields with a minimum of personnel and equipment. Only refueling equipment would be required.

(B) At no time would there be concentration of big bombers at the forward fields (as there would be if they were major airdromes) to present a profitable target for an enemy air raid.

(C) The striking reach of the smaller B-29s and B-50s, as well as the B-36s, could be extended.

Middlecoff, Snead, Locke Sought For World Title Golf Go

Spokane, Wash., July 27 (AP)—Spokane's free-spending Athletic Round Table says it has put up a $6500 purse in an effort to lure Bobby Locke, Sampp Snead and Cary Middlecoff here for a "world championship" golf match next month.

The Round Table said last night invitations have been sent to all three but that it has received no replies.

In Belfast, Ireland, Locke said "I have not had time to think about it yet."

Locke, the British Open champion, has been banned from all tournaments sponsored in the United States by the Professional Golfers' Association for allegedly failing to keep tournament commitments.

But the Round Table said it hoped he might make a special trip to this country for its three-man tournament, not under PGA jurisdiction, after hearing about the prizes.

They would provide $3500 for first, $1750 for second and $1250 for third, thus assuring each of glodfond's "big three" a healthy reward. Snead is PGA champion and Middlecoff holds the U. S. Open title.

The Round Table said it got the idea for the tournament from a suggestion in a column by Whitney Martin of the Associated Press.

Locke has played here before in a tournament sponsored by the Round Table. The invitations were sent by Marvin (Bud) Ward, former National Amateur champion, and secretary of the Round Table.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Umpire Sings Hymn, 'Open Thine Eyes'

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 27 (AP)—It was a double-barreled complaint against Bobby Locke that led to his being barred by the PGA, according to word relayed to this department . . . The Irishness officials at Toledo didn't receive word from Bobby that he wasn't coming until July 14, a week before the tournament. By that time programs and other printed matter had Locke's name . . . The Western Open encountered a similar situation . . . And the players are burning because Locke asked Dutch Harrison to line up some exhibitions for the week preceding Inverness and Dutch hasn't had any direct word yet about cancelling them. Naturally those sponsors are unhappy, too . . . More "inside" news is that the Big Ten and National Collegiate A. A. offices, which have been combined for several years, will be split apart as soon as the NCAA finds the right man to handle its setup.

Strain, seeking his third straight triumph, expelled gray-haired R. L. Davison of Amherst, N. S., yesterday, 8 and 7.

He was followed into the round of 32 by Dick Chapman, the former U. S. Amateur champion from Osterville, Mass.; Buddy Lutz of Reading, Pa.; John Kraft of Denver, and Ollie Kay of Toledo, Ohio.

Dutch Housewife Mile and Half Short On Channel Swim

Dover, England, July 27 (AP)—The choppy waters of the English channel have scored another victory.

Charlie Strain, a guest singer at a local church . . . the pastor announced: "Umpire Charlie Strain will sing hymn No. 270", then looked surprised when a titillating soloist at a Richmond, Va. church . . .
